908.—ST. GALL, STIFTSBIBL. 120.
ALEMANNIC MINUSCULE SAECL. VIII–IX.

§ Hieronymus in Daniehelm.

Foll. 115, paginated 1–290 (an unnumbered slip between pp. 38 and 39j); 280–157–162 mm. (215–320–115–125 mm.) in 23–27 long lines. Ruling before folding, normally on the flesh-side, 4 bifolia at a time. Double bounding lines in both margins. Prickings in the outer margin guided the ruling. Gatherings of eight, with flesh- or hair-side outside, signed in the middle of the lower margin of the last page with an uncial letter set off by four or six parallel strokes or enclosed in a circle (except the first which instead has a cross in a circle). Colophons in uncial or capitals. Heads in red or black uncial or in large, fancy black or hollow capitals. Punctuation: the main pause is marked by a medial point or semicolon, lesser pauses by a medial point or a semicolon; many points added. Omissions are marked by sigillae des retum (crosses on pp. 8, 11). Run-overs carried to the line above are set off by an angular bracket. Numerous abbreviations include b, q, – bus, que; s,

909.—ST. GALL, STIFTSBIBL. 1205.
ALEMANNIC MINUSCULE SAECL. VIII. EX.

§ Ps.-Hieronymus in IV Evangelia; Excerpta Varia Patrum.

Foll. 137, paginated 3–376 (numbers 61 and 121 were omitted; pp. 1/2 are a paper fly-leaf); 240–155–160 mm. (170–190–112–120 mm.) in 23–30 long lines. Ruling before folding, on the flesh- or hair-side, 4 bifolia at a time, with the direct impression on the outer bifolium. Double bounding lines in both margins. Prickings in the outer margin guided the ruling. Gatherings of eight, with flesh- or hair-side outside, signed in the middle of the lower margin of the last page with an uncial letter set off by four parallel strokes enclosed in a circle (except the first which instead has a cross in a circle). Colophons in uncial or capitals. Heads in red or black uncial or in large, fancy black or hollow capitals. Punctuation: the main pause is marked by a medial point or semicolon, lesser pauses by a medial point or a semicolon; many points added. Omissions are marked by sigillae des retum (crosses on pp. 8, 11). Run-overs carried to the line above are set off by an angular bracket. Numerous abbreviations include b, q, – bus, que; s,

910.—ST. GALL, STIFTSBIBL. 126.
ALEMANNIC AND ANGLO-SAXON MINUSCULE SAECL. VIII.

§ Hieronymus, Commentarius in Matthaeum.

Foll. 198, paginated 3–399 (numbers 145 and 251 are repeated, 215 is omitted; many narrow strips used for entering additions are inserted after pp. 36, 42, 56, 64, 93, 100, 112, 114, 120, 149, 203, 228, 383—all unnumbered except the first one after p. 100; pp. 1/2 and 400/401 are paper fly-leaves); ca. 235 x 150 mm. (185– 190 x 115–120 mm.) in 22–25 long lines. Ruling before folding, normally on the flesh-side, 2 or more bifolia at a time. Double or single bounding lines in both margins. Prickings in the outer margin guided the ruling. Gatherings mostly of eight, with flesh-side normally outside, signed with Roman numerals in the middle of the lower margin of the last page. Colophons and headings in black simple or hollow fancy capitals or in red or black uncial. Punctuation: various pauses marked by a medial point or comma in the Insular parts only. Omissions are marked by sigillae des retum and often supplied on inserted slips. Citations marked by a comma or by one or two flourishes to the left of the comma. Abbreviations hardly differ in the Continental and Insular parts; they include b, q, – bus, que; s,

911.—ST. GALL, STIFTSBIBL. 133.
ALEMANNIC MINUSCULE SAECL. VIII–IX.

§ Eusebius, Liber Locorum, Interpretum Hieronymi; Virgilius, Aethici Cosmographia; Liber Generationum; etc.

Foll. 397, paginated 1–143, 145–174, 176–591, 593–657; 149–150–85–87 mm. (ca. 220–62–70 mm.) in 17–19 long lines. Ruling on the flesh- or hair-side, 4 bifolia at a time, printed in two margins; prickings in the outer margin guided the ruling. Gatherings of eight, with red uncial in the Roman numeral at the end of each gathering (except the first); double or single bounding lines in both margins. Prickings in the outer margin guided the ruling. Gatherings mostly of eight, with flesh-side normally outside, signed with Roman numerals in the middle of the lower margin of the last page. Colophons and headings in black simple or hollow fancy capitals or in red or black uncial. Punctuation: various pauses marked by a medial point or comma in the Insular parts only. Omissions are marked by sigillae des retum and often supplied on inserted slips. Citations marked by a comma or by one or two flourishes to the left of the comma. Abbreviations hardly differ in the Continental and Insular parts; they include b, q, – bus, que; s,

Written in no doubt at St. Gall, to judge by the script. The thirteenth-century ex-libris 'Iste libri 'de sèo gallo' is seen on p. 2. Our plate from pp. 10 and 33.

Written in no doubt at St. Gall, to judge by the script. The thirteenth-century ex-libris 'Iste libri 'de sèo gallo' is seen on p. 2. Our plate from pp. 10 and 33.

One of the most striking features of the late Insular manuscripts is the strikingly roundish loops of e, g, and h, and the horizontal stroke in the letters m and n. The script is an early, small-size minuscule, by different hands, some showing clear Alemannic features and cursive elements, e.g. half-uncial  %,  \textcircled{a} shaped o, \textcircled{e} with the hori­

Written apparently in the same Swiss centre as Einsiedeln MS. 310 (283), foll. 3–6, a fragment of a lectionary; the hand on pp. 209–215 seems identical with the first hand of St. Gall MS. 259 (not No. 935).